The Daily Standard. We have before expressed our opinion that any attempt to puff up one route to Omineca, at the expense of another, is sheer folly. Those who are enterprising and adventurous enough to go there will have sense enough to select the route that in their judgment is best. Hence, all the puffing for this route or that would really be a reflection on the largest of the Reitsh Rental to the completion of the Colonies would be fatal to the largest of the Reitsh Rental to the completion of the Colonies would be fatal to the largest of the Reitsh Rental to the completion of the Colonies would be fatal to the largest of the Reitsh Rental to the largest of the Reitsh Rental to the largest of the Reitsh Rental to the manufactory of Sir William Armstrong, where fifty batteries are being constructed. The Labor Representative League have just worked in the Alabama claims to the working men of America. The address expresses the greatest friendship and cordial feeling toward the States.

An able paper has been read at the Russell Institution by Capt. Duncan, R. A., on "Canada, or British North America." The author spoke of Canada as the most important colony of the Empire, and likely to become the highway to the East on the completion of the new and projected line of railway to British Columbia in lieu of the present route by the Grand Trunk, and held that the severage of the Colonies would be fatal to that would really be a reflection on the practical good seuse of those who may the Urana relation and the familito the Interests of the Colonies would be familito the Interests of the British Empire.

The Irish Presbyterians are determined to make a firm stand on the question of educaengage in pioneering. Instead, therefore, of attempting to point out which is the best, we prefer urging that something be done to improve both routes. It is bertain that both the rival routes—that vis Skeens and that via Queenellemouth—will be travelled; and that merchandize will pass over both. Hence, both will be travelled; and that merchandize will pass over both. Hence, both have legitimate claims on the Government. The route taken last year from Queenelle has been found a very difficult one for stock and pack trains. It is far longer than is necessary; and more monntainous than it might be. After following the Telegraph trail for a certain distance, a very much shorter and more direct route, over a better country, was allowed at dinner in Manchester.

Dec. 19th, and was entertained at dinner in Manchester.

Genesal Sheridan, U. S. A., has been in Athens, and was lionized there.

A member of a leading London mercantile firm has just made some business suggestions (published in the Times) in regard to the Alabama claims. He thinks it is not reasonable that the anderwriters should pocket the premium on the whole of the risks insured, also claim reimbursement for the comparatively few losses which did actually occur. He adds, "A very small congress of average states in the actually occur.

General Butler's bellicose views have been variously criticised. They have, however, excan be found to Germansen. We are cited no alarm; and the sensible way to which certainly not this year; and it is questioned by some familiar with it, whether it will ever prove of any very great value. We need not enter into explanatory details to confirm this opinion, but we will merely say that all who have crossed and recrossed it. from whom we have derived our information of the great states to the general as "an envoy whose manifestation of the will neither presume upon, nor be cajoled by the New York World. Our contemporary speaks of the General as "an envoy whose manifestation of the will neither presume upon, nor be cajoled by the New York World. Our contemporary speaks of the General as "an envoy whose manifestation of the Will neither presume upon, nor be cajoled by the concilinatory spirit recently manifested in England."

The most noteworthy subject in home polifrom whom we have berived our information, went the Giscome Portage route as one of great difficulty, expensive to open, and what is more, of doubtful utility. If guided by practical experience, it certainly would appear to be the wisest course to render some assistance to improve, shorten and open, if practicable, a land trail from Quesnellements to the course to render some assistance to improve, shorten and open, if practicable, a land trail from Quesnellemouth to the Omineca mines. There ought, if possible, to be a route over which the farmer may run in his beef cattle, and the packer carry in the flour, bacon and butter of Central British Columbia. It would be a mishap to allow agricultural produce to be carried into the mines via Skeens, if hy a little exertion on the part of the Government the farmers in the interior.

Shortly after the assembling of the English Parliament on the 7th Feb., important estimates will be admitted, with the object of increasing the efficiency of the naval and military forces of the country.

A balloon hovered over Plymouth for a short time on December 24 h. At one time it came down to within a comparatively short distance over the north part of the town, but apparently from some misapprehension of their locality, ballast was thrown out by its occupants, and it rose again and rapidly drifted away to the south-west. It was supposed to be another of the Paris balloque. Government the farmers in the interior be enabled to supply the new mines; for all the produce that may pass via Skeena could most undestitedly come either from Oregon or California. Now, as remained the Skreun route, we are aedisguisedly of the opinion that a liberal tranchise outh to be greated to the description of the opinion that a liberal tranchise outh to be greated to the scenario under 55 years. tranchise ought to be granted to enable enterprising parties to open the route.

We question, however, whether many parties will be disposed to take the reasonability to open the route in conformance. We question, however, whether many parties will be disposed to take the responsibility to open the route in conformity with the terms suggested by the call for tenders. Few will be disposed to take the risk to open it with the chance of having it taking off their hands in three months after by the Country boys were foiled by the pelice, in their attempt to celebrate the December angiversary. Several persons were arrested for rioting. three months after, by the Government. Omineus, is reputedly a good mining country; but if it should unfortunately prove to be like Big Bend, the owners of the franchise would facur a serious loss. Hence, where everything is risked by the tenderer, and nothing by the Government, we consider that the latter ought to offer something liberal to compensate for the risk. Unless such a policy obtains, there is reason to fear that the Skeens route it may remain unopened. We have no wish to see money expended by Government under the influence of an excitement;

but we estably think that a little judicious liberality, either in granting a franchise, or in assisting to open and improve one or both routes, would be acceptable to the country generally.

the Dominion—will have nothing to do with annexation. Such is the news by the last mail. Well, it is thought that Nova Scotia is right, and that the States would do well not to think—if, indeed, the thought was ever entertained in official quarters—any more about the matter. There have been times when perhaps such an annexation might have been accomplished with but little trouble, but a brighter atmosphere has since set in, and we are glad to bear that Nova Scotia is now quite content with her existing status in a confederation that may one day prove a very valuable neighbor to the States.
